44TH VETO IS EXPECTED ON AID TO KOREA

Lake Success, Sept. 6.—(P)—Russia is expected to cast her 44th veto today to prevent Security Council adoption of an American resolution urging all countries not to help the North Korean aggressors.

Russia's Jakob A. Malik has insisted since he returned to the Council Aug. 1 that the U. S. resolution is merely designed to "hide and justify American aggression in Korea."

He returned to that theme at yesterday's stormy session declaring that U. S. intervention is "the real threat to international peace and security." The North Koreans he insisted, are "fighting a just war against the foreign invaders."

Malik's bitter, 45-minute attack on the U. S. came an hour after American Delegate Warren R. Austin officially notified the Council that United Nations forces had shot down a plane off the Korean coast bearing Soviet markings and had recovered the body of a man identified by his papers as a Russian lieutenant.

Malik dismissed the reported air fight as "one of a series of provocations by Gen. MacArthur and the War Department" intended to spread the Korean war.

He implied that the U. S. manufactured the happening by saying "the sea was chosen to conceal the sharp corners of the incident."

Diplomats were surprised that Malik waited an hour after Austin reported before making his reply.

Two Dead and 400 Homeless In Wake Of Gulf Hurricane

Miami, Fla., Sept. 6.—(P)—Two persons were dead and more than 400 homeless today in the wake of a trucky gulf hurricane that still loitered in the Tampa Bay area.

The storm was drifting slowly southward at about four miles per hour apparently losing some of its force after lashing the middle Florida gulf coast with 125-mile-an-hour winds.

It had doubled back after stalling all day yesterday in the Cedar Key area, where its greatest damage was reported. Winds near the center were estimated at 70 to 75 miles per hour with gusts even higher.

Squalls covered most of northern and central Florida.

Aid was rushed to the stricken Cedar Key where Florida highway patrol Capt. Olin Hill estimated between 400 and 500 were homeless. A convoy of six trucks left Turner Field at Albany, Ga., with C and K rations for 800 persons.

One tank truck carried a supply of water and others hauled 100 coats and 250 blankets. A doctor and three medical corpsmen were in the convoy, sent by Third Army headquarters in Atlanta.

The Red Cross and National Guard rushed in emergency food, fresh milk and drinking water from Gainesville, 52 miles to the northeast.

The hurricane thrashed Cedar Key with winds estimated up to 125 miles per hour throughout the day. All 200 buildings in the community were damaged and 75 per cent of them were wrecked.

Senator Pat McCarran Easy Winner In Race for Renomination for Nevada Seat

By The Associated Press
Senator Pat McCarran won easily in his race for renomination in Nevada's Democratic primary.

The 74-year-old, three-term veteran rolled up almost a three-to-one lead over George Franklin, Jr., 34-year-old Las Vegas lawyer and World War II bomber pilot.

Attorneys Kendrick Johnson of Reno and George Marshall of Las Vegas were locked in a nip and tuck struggle for the Republican senatorial nomination and the right to oppose McCarran.

In Utah, the second western state to hold primaries yesterday, businessman Wallace F. Bennett of Salt Lake City won the Republican senatorial nomination. Rue L. Clegg, Salt Lake City attorney

Situation "Serious But Not Disastrous"

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—The Defense Department described the situation in the northeast sector of the Korean battle front today as "serious but not disastrous."

Briefing officers at the Pentagon said there had been no general breakthrough by the Korean Reds.

An army spokesman said the Reds had achieved important advances in the critical area between Pohang and Taegu, but that nowhere had the enemy been able to push to any place where he did not come up against Allied opposition.

Pittsburgh's Red Leaders Are Held

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—Three leaders of the Communist party in western Pennsylvania were held for grand jury action yesterday on sedition charges.

At the same time, Judge A. Marshall Thompson set bond of $10,000 for each of the men at an orderly hearing before a packed courtroom guarded by 15 deputy sheriffs.

Later, Judge Thomas M. Marshall granted a petition by Judge Michael A. Musmanno, acting as a private prosecutor, padlocking the Communist Headquarters in the Bakewell building.

Those sent to jail in the swift action were Steve Nelson, Communist party chairman in the district; James Dolson, local correspondent for the Daily Worker, and Andrew Onda, organizer. Dolson previously had been freed on $5,000 bond.

Judge Musmanno, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, has asked that Nelson be held without bond as "a dangerous criminal and a revolutionary."

ROBS LOAN COMPANY

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—A stickup man described by his victims as "plainly nervous," robbed a downtown office of $1,200 cash yesterday. The man held employees of Consumers Discount Company at pistol point while he rifled the cash drawers, then fled down a stairway from the second floor office.

Pastors and Lay Delegates of Area Are Attending a Conference at Meadville

Pastors and lay delegates of the three Methodist churches in Warren will be in Meadville the remainder of this week to attend the 115th annual sessions of the Erie Conference of that denomination.

The ministers, Rev. Wayne Furman, Rev. C. W. Baldwin and Rev. James Kelly, have as their lay delegates, Alan H. Templeton, First church; W. J. Summerville, Grace church, and Mrs. Clarence Heald, for the Epworth parish.

Preliminary planning sessions today formally opened the gathering on Allegheny College campus, with meetings held by the board of stewards and the cabinet of Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, Pittsburgh.

A registration of more than 300 was indicated for the 2 p. m. opening session, when Dr. Louis Benzel, president of the college, welcomed the visitors and Dr. F. S. McKnight, Brookville, gave the report of the four district superintendents. Dr. McKnight, for Brookville; Dr. Thomas H. Morris, Grove City; Dr. Charles T. Greer, Jamestown; and Dr. Thomas E. Colley, Meadville.

Tonight's service will feature the annual memorial for those who have died since last conference. Rev. Donald Modisher, presiding and Rev. Harold L. Knappenberg, Franklin, former pastor of Warren's Grace church, delivering the address on the theme "The Heralds of God."

Mr. Knappenberg will also conduct devotions for tomorrow's opening session, when Dr. Harold A. McCurdy, Jamestown, will preside.

and state senator, conceded to Bennett shortly after midnight. Bennett will face Democratic Senator Elbert Thomas in November. Thomas had no primary opposition.

Those were the races that attracted the most interest nationally. Republicans and Democrats also picked senate, house, and statehouse candidates in the two states.

The western voting shared political interest with behind-the-scenes maneuverings in New York state as Republicans and Democrats opened party conventions.

Rep. Walter A. Lynch, 56-year-old lawyer, appeared to be assured of the Democratic nomination in run against Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Garland Man Hurt In Auto Accident Near Pittsfield

Ted Gantz, of Garland, is in Warren General Hospital today suffering a fractured right leg as the result of an automobile accident which took place on Route 27 near the Pittsfield Inn about 1 a. m. today. Driver of the car in which Gantz was a passenger was Robert Bailey, also of Garland. Bailey was uninjured.

State police, who investigated, said that Bailey struck a car operated by Richard C. Allen, a student at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., as the Allen car was standing on the pavement in front of the Pittsfield Inn.

Allen had stopped at the Inn to request help in locating a relative and to get his car started. After Mr. Scully, proprietor of the Inn, had given him a push to get his car started Allen stopped in front of the Inn and it was then that the accident occurred. Police said there was a very heavy fog at the time.

Damage to each of the cars was estimated at approximately $100 and Allen was uninjured. Gantz was removed to the hospital by the Earl Young ambulance from Youngsville.

Russia Says Plane Shot Down Unarmed

London, Sept. 6.—(P)—Russia asserted a bomber shot down by a United Nations fighter patrol Monday was an unarmed Soviet plane on a training flight.

The assertion was made in a statement to the United States broadcast by Moscow radio.

The statement claimed the plane carried "neither bombing nor torpedo armament."

Wife of Former U. B. Pastor Here Is Dead In Ohio

Mrs. Estella Ankony Brubaker, wife of Rev. U. B. Brubaker who was the pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren church in this city from 1925 to 1930, passed away suddenly last Friday evening, Sept. 1 at their home in Western, Ohio. Rev. and Mrs. Brubaker moved to Westernville following his retirement from the active ministry in 1941 where she was active in women's organizations of the local church.

Mrs. Brubaker was born August 13, 1881, in Jenners, Somerset County. She was the daughter of John and Mary Ankony and joined the church at the age of 12, continuing actively until the time of her death.

She attended Otterbein College for two years, studying in the department of music. Returning to Pennsylvania she taught music for several years. She was united in marriage with Rev. U. B. Brubaker on February 9, 1926. During these many years she aided her husband in his ministry.

EXPRESS IN WRECK

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—A Chicago-bound Pennsylvania Railroad express train plowed through two piles of scrap lumber, old ties and rocks piled on the track near Emsworth last night. The engine sighted the obstruction and applied brakes but the train did not halt until it had struck the two piles. The train was not wrecked. Railroad officials said they believe young boys were responsible.

Local Organizations Planning Dinner-Dance For Members Of Company I Thursday Evening

Harrisburg, Sept. 6.—(P)—The newly federalized 28th Infantry Division got orders today to move Sunday, Sept. 10 through Sept. 13 to Camp Atterbury, Ind., from all sections of Pennsylvania. Col. James G. Mackey, chief of staff, announced receipt of army orders for the troop movement to the Indiana training camp. Special trains will move to the camp on Sept. 10, 11 and 12. On Sept. 13 motor convoys will leave Harrisburg, Mansfield, New Castle and Washington with troops not carried by special trains. The famed National Guard outfit, now a part of the United States Second Army, received its travel orders as advance units moved by motor convoy and air to the Indiana training base to prepare for the arrival of the main troops.

A grand farewell dinner-dance for members of Company I, 121st Infantry, has been arranged for tomorrow evening in the Liberty Club. A number of local organizations and lodges are cooperating to sponsor the event to which all men of the company will be invited along with their wives, sweethearts or mothers.

The dinner-dance will start at 8:30 tomorrow night. The dinner will be served by the auxiliaries of the VFW, the Moose and the Eagles Lodges. The hall is being donated by the Liberty Club and music for dancing will be donated by Ford Winner and his trio.

The plans were made at a meeting last night in the VFW at which Al Arnold, commander, presided. Representatives of the various organizations sponsoring the farewell were present. Those taking part are the VFW, Moose, K of C, Eagles, Elks, Sons of Italy, Marconi Club, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner-dance is scheduled for tomorrow night because Company I will be busy the rest of the week preparing for their departure.

BULLETIN

Harrisburg, Sept. 6.—(P)—Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler today asked units of the newly federalized 28th Infantry Division to continue their recruiting campaign at their home armories while awaiting orders to move to Camp Atterbury, Ind. "Persons interested in joining any unit of the 28th Infantry Division can enlist up to the time of departure from home armories," Gen. Strickler said.

Leaving Warren for Jamestown, N. Y., he was employed there for some years by the Erie Railroad. Ten years ago, he was transferred by the firm to Youngstown but maintained residence in Hubbard.

Besides his wife, Leona, he leaves four brothers: George and Jacob, Warren; Hiram, Youngstown; and T/Sgt. Robert Hesch, Hickman Field, Hawaii; also one parture for Camp Atterbury some time before September 15. Four members of Company I, 121st Infantry, will leave Warren tomorrow morning and entrain at Erie as part of an advance guard of about 70 men from various

Plunging Red Korean Assault On City of Taegu and Highway Arteries Is Reported Halted

Northern Front: Allied troops slow massive Red general offensive, retake vital road junction of Yongchon from Communist guerrillas, advance north of Kyongju, another key road junction. Reds use 84 Russian-built tanks in drive on northern rim of Allied front. British, in action beside Americans, beat off Red machinegun attack.

Southern Front: Americans balk Communist "suicide" battalions who try to stab behind their lines. U. S. Marines and infantry advance on southern sector of Nankong front against Red bridgehead positions.

Air War: Allied planes back in action after day of weather-enforced inactivity, knock out 17 Red tanks in close support of northern front defenders. B-29s smash at Red supply lines in north. Fighters and bombers rip military installations behind Red lines.

Belgrade—Communist (but Cominform-outcast) Yugoslavia denounced North Koreans as aggressors.

Lake Success: Security Council gathers again, facing Soviet veto of U. S. resolution urging nations not to aid North Korea.

Tokyo, Thursday, Sept. 7.—(P)—Allied troops retake Yongchon Wednesday in a counterattack that stopped Red Korean thrusts at Taegu and regained some lost ground.

But the Reds threw 84 new Russian-made tanks on the northern and eastern Korean battlefields where new U. S. 474-ton Patton tanks made their war appearance a few days ago.

A big tank battle seemed imminent with the Allied side having some demonstrated advantage through airplane support.

Good weather unleashed U. S. Fifth Air Force bombers and fighters on the enemy tanks. By dusk Wednesday 17 Red tanks were knocked out—10 destroyed and seven damaged by aerial attack.

Night fighters and bombers continued the attack Wednesday night.

But the Allied eastern sea anchor line on the 120-mile Korean war-front had collapsed. That allowed Communist troops and tanks to spear toward Taegu, hub of the northern and western front, and on toward toward Pusan, chief Allied port in the southeast.

Pohang, No. 2 Allied port on the Sea of Japan coast, fell to the Reds. Allied fire bombs in Wednesday's air attack gave the city a shattering. It has changed hands twice in the 10-week-old war.

Yongchon, a major battle goal 20 miles east of Taegu, was seized by Communist guerrillas Tuesday. It was retaken by an Allied counterattack Wednesday morning.

American aerial observers told A. P. Correspondent, Leif Erickson the highway junction was in Allied hands late Wednesday.

A battle for Taegu raged 20 miles east of the city at the highway junction of Yongchon, which apparently changed hands in the day's fighting. U. N. forces won it back tonight.

Kyongju, another main road junction 18 miles southwest of Pohang, was reported safe by General MacArthur's headquarters. Red advances through the crumbling east wing of the 120-mile front line.

Battle-Weary Marines Are Stunned and Confused By Remarks of Pres. Truman

With U. S. Marines in Korea, Sept. 6.—(P)—Fighting Marines were angry and profane today on learning of President Truman's remark that the Marine Corps has a "propaganda machine that is almost equal to Stalin's."

None would be quoted by name on what their commander-in-chief had to say. Their immediate reaction generally was stunned surprise.

(They apparently) got their first word of the president's statement through war correspondents and the army's service newspaper (Start and Stripes).

"Did he say 'that'?" queried a marine sergeant who has been on the Korean front line 32 days.

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—President Truman is considering sending a letter to the Marine Corps League in an effort to stem the flame and bitterness arising from his cracks about the Marine Corps.

It was learned today that Mr. Truman is disturbed by the reaction to his assertions that the Marines are the "Navy's police force" and have "a propaganda machine that is almost equal to Stalin's."

Pennsylvania Week Special To Stop In Warren On Tour of 30 Cities in October

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—The 1950 version of the Pennsylvania Week special train will leave Harrisburg Oct. 16 and visit 30 cities in the following seven days.

Tentative program times for the itinerary were announced today by A. Appleton, state railroad committee chairman for Pennsylvania Week.

The 11-car train will carry a group of state officials and entertainers and include a stage car which will be used as a stage. A half hour program will be presented at each stop.

Five railroads are cooperating in the state-wide tour—the Baltimore and Ohio, Lehigh Valley, Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and Reading.

(The tentative schedule brings the train into this area Wednesday, October 1, with a stop in Warren that afternoon from 1:20 until 2:00 p. m. The day's itinerary follows: Ridgway, 10:35 to 11:15; Kane, 11:55 to 12:35 p. m.; Warren 1:20 to 2:00. Titusville 3:10 to 4:40, Oil City, 5:00 to 5:40.)

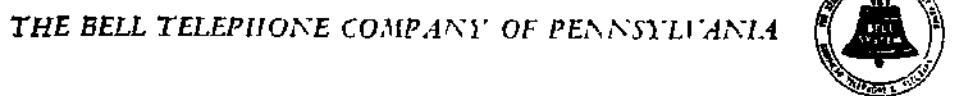

Charles P. Pfautz, draftsman at Parish Pressed Steel Company, Reading, Pa.

Draftsman

An expert draftsman and designer of tools and dies, Charlie Pfautz plays an important part in making steel products for several of his company's customers including Bell Telephone.

Throughout Pennsylvania, there are thousands of skilled craftsmen like Charlie, whose continuing employment depends to some degree on orders placed by the telephone industry. Bell Telephone, in fact, is a customer of some 2,000 Pennsylvania firms, located in more than 200 communities in all sections of the state.

Any way you look at it, the successful operation of the telephone business means a great deal to the steady employment of a great many Pennsylvanians, both in and out of the telephone industry.

Rites For Well Known Bradford Oil Man Thursday

The body of William J. Healy, 76, prominent Bradford oil producer and hospital board executive, who died in New York City Memorial Hospital Sunday night, arrived in Bradford Tuesday morning and was taken to the residence, 150 Kennedy street, that city. A solemn requiem mass will be celebrated at nine a. m. Thursday at St. Bernard's church. Burial will follow in St. Bernard's cemetery.

A veteran oil man of more than a half century, Mr. Healy was instrumental in developing new methods for recovering more petroleum from the ground and played an important role in state and national oil organizations.

Born in Petroleum Center, site of one of Western Pennsylvania's early oil booms, Mr. Healy was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Healy. He moved to Bradford at an early age. After attending Niagara University at Niagara Falls, he entered the oil business and won considerable prominence in the industry.

He founded the Healy Petroleum Corp. in 1922, and was president of the company until August, 1948, when he sold his interests to the United Refining Co. of Warren. But although he disposed of his holdings in the corporation he kept his hand in the oil business. He operated the Enterprise Oil Co. and held extensive interests in Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas.

In 1942, Mr. Healy constructed an ultra-modern office building in Kennedy street to house his corporation. After he sold his holdings in the Healy firm he continued to maintain his office in Bradford. Mr. Healy pointed out the building as a monument to his faith and confidence in the future of the Bradford oil field.

In the oil industry Mr. Healy was one of Bradford's leading figures. He helped organize the Appalachian Oil and Gas Association, predecessor of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association. He had also formerly headed the latter group as president and served as a director.

He was president of the North-western Pennsylvania Oil Producers Association, and had served as director of its successor organization, the Bradford District Pennsylvania Oil Producers Association.

He also was affiliated with the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

In the secondary recovery history of the Bradford field, Mr. Healy was one of the pioneers in the waterflooding process.

On the civic scene, Mr. Healy was active in the affairs of the Bradford Community Chest, serving as chairman of the Chest campaign in 1941.

Among the other organizations with which he was affiliated are the Bradford Club, the Penn Hills and Valley Hunt Clubs and the Pennsylvania Society.

He was accompanied by three friends, Sam Mack, Harold Robbins and Dick Peterson, all of them students at the University of Washington. They left Wednesday for Boston, and other large eastern cities where they plan to tour several ball games while touring the east.

Andrew Thorntonsen of Minneapolis, and John Thorntonsen of Kane, visited Mr. and Mrs. Allen Peterson on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson, David, Margaret and Kathryn spent Sunday at Butterfield Falls, N. Y., where a family reunion was held with relatives from Chicago, Minnesota, Massachusetts, New York State and Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hanson and Carl L. Swanson, spent Sunday at Fillmore, N. Y. where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Evar Swanson. Ludlow friends will be interested to learn that Evar is recuperating nicely after spinal surgery performed at Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester, N. Y., about six weeks ago, but has a long convalescence ahead of him.

Mrs. R. E. Wenstran was a recent patient at the Kane Community Hospital when she underwent minor surgery.

To date, the community of Ludlow does not know exactly which of her men are leaving with Company M of the National Guard of Kane, but the community sends best wishes with each and every one of them and hopes they will be back very soon.

The Rev. and Mrs. Hans Pearson, Miss Gloria Pearson and Mrs. Norman Lust, left on Monday for Oak Hill, W. Va., where Mr. and Mrs. Lust will reside.

SHAVE, MISTER? GET ONE FREE THIS WEEK

As a means of getting more men in their neighborhood to shave electrically, Warren dealers are holding an electric shaver demonstration. These dealers say that this modern shaving method is just as far an advance over the electric shavers of yesterday as the new, dependable streamlined autos of today are improved over the cranky puddle-jumpers of a generation ago.

Fice shaves with the Sunbeam Shavemaster will highlight the demonstration. You are invited to skip a shave and visit any Warren store whose name appears in an advertisement elsewhere in this issue, for a demonstration of electric shaving.

Party Club Ready For Charity Ball

The Party-A-Month Club has everything in readiness for a charity ball which the group is sponsoring at the Marconi Outing Club tomorrow night as a benefit for the Hot Stove League.

Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., with music furnished by Sonny Dunham and his famous orchestra. Sonny is the only name band leader who has mastered the art of playing both the trumpet and trombone.

SONNY DUNHAM

The Dunham band climbed to fame as a jitterbug band in the years from 1941 to 1945 when raucous, blatant music was the fad from coast to coast. Then when the jitterbugs gave way to those who liked their music pretty and sweet, Sonny abandoned his "flying circus" and started playing sweet with swing.

He recently concluded an engagement at the Roseland Ballroom in New York. Other engagements included the Ansley Hotel, Atlanta, the Palladium, Hollywood, Hotel Sherman, Chicago; the Meadowbrook, New Jersey; and the Chick Restaurant, Philadelphia. He also has appeared in Columbia and Universal movies and has played on all the major radio networks.

E. U. B. Welcomes Former Churches Into Conference

In accordance with the union of conferences in the Evangelical United Brethren church, three former Evangelical churches were welcomed into membership of the Erie Conference this year: Erie Salem, Weiss Library, and North East.

One former Warren man, Rev. Leo Hansen, Stoughton, N. Y., was among five ordained this year. Others in the group were Rev. John Westley, Fort Allegany; Rev. Robert Smith, newly-appointed pastor at Pleasantville; Rev. Leo McGaughey, Edwards Chapel, N. Y., and Rev. E. Loye Donelson, newly-appointed to Findley Lake, N. Y.

Changes announced at the concluding session of the Findley Lake sessions included the moving of Rev. Ivan Hunsberger, former pastor at Pleasantville for six years, from Buffalo First church to Erie Salem parish; Rev. Leon Tickner, Pleasantville, to Jamestown, Stillwater and Cable Hollow churches; Rev. H. H. Atkins, from Chandeliers Valley to Sweden Valley and Rev. Wayne Rothwell to Chandeliers Valley. Rev. Arthur Vioman, from Jamestown Stillwater-Cable Hollow to Clarence Center, N. Y.

Another item of local interest was the election of L. E. Nason, local school teacher, as a delegate to the General Conference meeting in Dayton, O. November 10.

It will also interest former parishioners and many friends to know that Rev. J. L. Strong, formerly of Youngsville, was retired at this conference session.

Dr. S. Paul Weaver, Jamestown, who is conference superintendent, remains in that post until next year's sessions, having been elected to a four-year term.

More Boro Wards Are Organized To List Blood Donors

The gift of human blood under the National Red Cross blood program is tested for safe medical use before distribution to physicians and hospitals. Medical research has now made it possible to preserve whole blood for 21 days under constant refrigeration. After that period it is never wasted because important blood derivatives are prepared from outdated blood. A portion of whole blood is now being sent regularly to armed forces in Korea and the balance is being utilized by civilians.

In the door-to-door campaign, residents in the various borough wards are organized to carry the blood program message to all friends and neighbors. In the seventh ward under a committee composed of Mrs. W. H. Cannon, Jr., Mrs. C. L. Kinney, Mrs. Harold McNulty and Mrs. William Rudolph, the following people are ready to start work: Mrs. Warren T. Born, Mrs. Hazen Carlson, Mrs. LaMonte Culbertson, Mrs. Henry

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
New York, Sept. 6—(AP)—A record thirty and one-half million boys and girls are enrolled in the nation's grade and high schools. And the nation's merchants have been doing a fine business outfitting them. Some

J. Dahl, Miss Helen Hook, Miss Sylvia Lucia, Mrs. F. H. Hetrick, Mrs. Sherman Offerle, Mrs. Chester Park, Miss Eleanor R. Rhodes, Mrs. Alfred L. Stevens, Mrs. J. R. Sugerman, Mrs. Howard Wagner and William J. Yeager.

In the sixth ward, captain Mrs. Ray J. Reed announces the following workers: Mrs. Charles Frantz, Mrs. James H. Frantz, Mrs. Ned B. Lauffer, Mrs. W. D. McElwain, Mrs. Donald E. McComas and Mrs. Fred O. Wood.

The next visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile is scheduled for North Warren on September 19 and will operate from the Warren State hospital there. North Warren residents are urged to sign up for that date. In October the collection will return to Warren as usual.

report that dollar volume of back-to-school buying is running from 10 to 35 per cent ahead of last year.

Business may be even better in the years ahead. The school age population may increase by more than one-third in the next ten years and not reach its peak before 1964, as the record baby crops of the war and postwar years pass through the primary and secondary schools.

This year's booming sales of children's clothing isn't called war scare buying. But many stores report that parents are buying with the entire school year in mind, instead of just the first few months. And many stores say back-to-school buying started at least two weeks earlier this year.

Only a few parents appear to fear possible clothing shortages later, but many seem to fear future price increases, retailers say, especially in wool clothing.

A whole new generation of boys may be coming along who will never know anything but rayon suits, according to some of the more fanciful looking-aheaders down on clothing row. They say that boys' wear manufacturers, always keenly price-conscious, are particularly worried by the skyrocketing prices of wool this week by the Australian auctions. And some fear that in the years ahead wool may become too expensive for boys' suits.

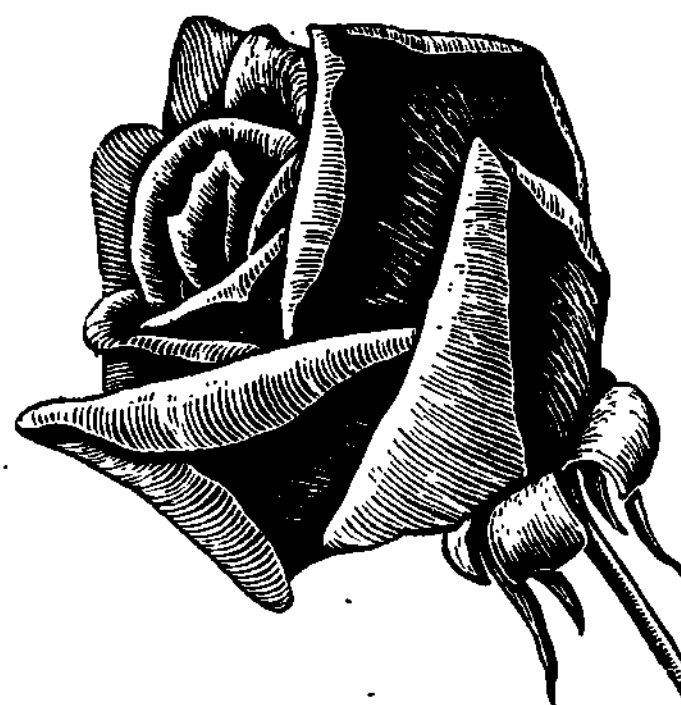

Others, taking a shorter view, predict that the rising price of fabrics and increasing labor costs will mean a 10 per cent wholesale price hike in boys' clothing after Labor Day, and that next spring's prices will be 20 per cent higher than last.

On the other hand, Montgomery Ward's new catalogue, out this week, shows price cuts of from 7 to 50 per cent on many children's clothing items, the biggest reductions in the book. But the prices were set and the catalogue in the printers' hands before the Korean war started.

Manufacturers are appreciative of the increasing boys and girls market. One large maker of boys' clothing, Bolany Mills, Inc., announces today the opening of a new factory unit in Philadelphia to increase total outfit of the company by 25 per cent next spring, to keep step with "the nation's high birth rate and increasing population."

Clothing prices aren't the only worry of parents and taxpayers, as the record postwar baby crops move toward the crowded schools, with the greatest flood still ahead. The peak year for babies was 1947, with a record 3,876,000 births. These are yet to reach school age.

insurance Co., estimates a record 30½ million will enroll next month in elementary and high schools, and that the peak will come in 1964 when more than 44 million children between 5 and 17 will have to find room in the schools.

New school houses now going up "will provide only a fraction of the space needed," he says. Many cities will face increasing tax problems to meet the growing need for schools and teachers.

Meanwhile, the makers and sellers of children's clothing shouldn't have to worry over any shortage in the number of customers.

Hal Boyle's Comment

By HAL BOYLE
Pohang Airstrip, Korea.—(AP)—There are few things in the world more lonely than an abandoned air field.

The silence rushes in when the roar of engines can be heard no more and the whistle of departing wings has died away. The long runway along which planes lifted and landed on busy missions becomes a rusty metal skeleton, and sparrows again claim the peaceful yellow dust for feather baths.

Returning the other day to this airstrip was like going back to a home you once had lived in, and finding it bare, haunted by mice and old memories, and guarded by a strange policeman at the door. It had changed that much.

But less than three weeks ago this was the busiest fighter base in South Korea, and the nearest to the front. The boys nicknamed it "The Cleveland Municipal Airport."

From dawn to dusk ground crews sweated and strained under a steaming midsummer sun to tune the planes and load them with bombs and rockets. And sometimes bright, talented young pilots, clad in shabby and torn flying dungarees they kept on wearing "for good luck," flew as many as three sky cavalry charges against the enemy in a single day.

At evening they watched the sun sink in red splendor beyond the western hills and turn massed clouds into great chariots of blue and gold and a strange soft yellow that fired them with a sense of mystery. Behind them the sea darkened into black. A cooling breeze sprang up and dried their sweat. And it was a good night indeed if, before they yawned themselves to sleep on cots in their tents, they could share a few cans of beer ferried over from Japan by a friendly transport pilot.

But this serenity vanished when the enemy they had been attacking by air suddenly began to attack their base from the ground. The Reds seized Pohang only six miles away.

The airmen flew their missions by day and then grabbed carbines and guarded the field at night until infantry could be rushed up to protect it. But the enemy got within artillery range and shells began to drop around the airstrip.

To keep from losing their planes the pilots had to gas them up and then fly to another field farther behind the lines. The ground crews took down the tents and loaded them on boats and sailed away. And they took with them the American flag that had flown proudly from a hill near the runway. That was on Aug. 13.

Since then the Reds have been tossed out of Pohang. They have tried again to take the city and been repulsed. A strong force of American negro doughboys and white artillerymen have held the airbase all the while but the enemy is still too near for it to resume combat operations.

A few transport planes do land there to bring supplies. I rode up with one this week. Only one other plane was parked by the runway from which dozens of fighters used to swarm up daily. A long jeep wheeled over carrying two anti-aircraft officers—Lt. Wilbert Harrison, 857 Illinois Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Lt. William Sallery of Springfield, S. C.

They meet each plane as small towners a generation ago went down to see the trains come in. "We have to," said Lt. Sallery. "We haven't been eating so well here and our headquarters in Japan has been flying us in fresh vegetables. If we aren't there when the plane lands someone else gets them."

They drove us over to the infantry command post and an officer said:

"Our men go out and comb the hills every morning. We find one or two now and then—but it has been pretty quiet."

It was quiet, too, as we drove back along the empty, rutted road to our plane. I felt homesick as we passed the deserted spot where the operations tent had stood. I the silence I could hear the past laughter of pilots eagerly telling what they had seen and done on their missions.

"We are fixing up a place to live in," said Lt. Harrison. "We are going to call it 'Rocket House' because we are building it out of wooden boxes they ship rockets in. Everybody's been chasing lumber. We can't leave now. We got a huge investment here."

He was joking. But as our plane took off and circled the rusting runway, the lonesome grass bleached tops where the tents had stood, I knew that this haunted airfield would come to life. And an American flag flying from the hilltop will again banner young fliers to home and rest.

HERE AND THERE

after it has been Federalized and made a unit of the United States Army. Guards are on duty at the entrance of the "Armory" at all times, and soldiers wearing the arm band containing the letters "M. P.", so familiar to former service men, may be seen on the streets at all times. Shortly after six-fifteen this morning the company was marched to Oscar's restaurant for breakfast, and the sharp commands of the officers in charge of the units could be heard throughout the neighborhood the unit traversed, and echoed across the river. . . . Dr. Julius Lincoln, or Chicago, who spoke in Warren many times during the period between 1896-1918 when he was pastor of the First Lutheran church at Jamestown, returns to that city Sunday to preach the 94th anniversary sermon. His sermon will no doubt be one of reminiscences of the early days in Jamestown. Dr. Lincoln is now at work collecting material for the new centennial history of the church six years hence. . . . Harry Chinberg, whose grocery store at Scandia has long been recognized as the "U. N. capital for Pine Grove and Elk townships" upheld his reputation as mayor of that community in heading up the plans for the annual homecoming there Monday. Through his efforts and those who assisted, the event was by far one of the most successful yet held, with visitors present from many states across the country.

BLOOD POVERTY IS MENACE TO GOOD HEALTH!

Certa - Vin Enriches Your Blood With Iron; Builds Stronger Nerves With Vitamin B; Relieves Gassy Stomach; Try This New Formula for Only a Few Cents a Day. Get It At Widmann & Teah Drug Store.

Today many modern people have "Starved Blood" because the food they eat only HALF nourishes their blood-stream. Often this is due to gassy stomach and poor digestion, so these people feel weak and look pale.

Some victims scarcely know what is wrong with them. They feel like they are tied to a log everytime they try to do something. Their blood cells are shrunken or fagged-out. This is BLOOD STARVATION. Such persons wonder why tonics fail them—why they have to be half-sick and half-well—why they can't have their full share of energy.

Works With Your Food

Such discouraged people will now find—in CERTA-VIN—two liquid elements that regenerate Red Blood Cells. This new formula is taken before meals and WORKS WITH YOUR FOOD. Thus your food digests faster and better, with less gas and bloating, so you get the fullest good out of your meals. Soon your watery blood is enriched with iron and your nerves are energized with Vitamin B. Your red blood count goes up, and you feel better all over.

Benefit comes quickly, usually within 3 or 4 days. And the price of CERTA-VIN is reasonable. You can actually take this new medicine for a Few Cents a Day! So if you are a victim of blood poverty, gassy stomach, or lack vitality, don't go on suffering. Get Certa-Vin at Widmann & Teah (formerly Harvey & Carey).

For GOOD-ness Sake

By Betty Rice

Word comes to us that Claire Elliott of the Children's Aid Society is in need of volunteers as "part-time" parents. At present writing, the society must find a home for a month old baby boy and anyone who can qualify for good-ness sake phone the local agency at once. More and more babies need homes at all times and it would be helpful to have several possible families listed who might want to lend the helping hand. A thorough investigation is a requirement before children are placed by the children's aid society and Miss Elliott is tops in her field of work. Perhaps some of you mothers and fathers whose children have reached school age would want to help some less fortunate child get a good start in life.

If you are one of those SPECIAL people who have donated a pint of blood through the local Red Cross Blood Program remember that your words count. Your friends and neighbors will listen when you tell them about the blood program. TELL THEM . . . that giving a pint of blood doesn't hurt . . . that it takes less than an hour of their time . . . that a blood donation is under expert medical supervision . . . that donors are served light refreshments in the canteen after the donation . . . that donors receive a card certifying their blood group and Rh factor . . . that their blood may save a life . . . And be sure to tell them that you intend to give blood again as soon as you are permitted.

WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The first fall meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Association will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday at the church. The program will be something new in Warren, a verse choir composed of young people of the church and directed by Carroll Fowler. The theme of the recital will be "Unless Christian All Is Vain". Young people will also tell of their experiences at youth conferences at Grinnell, Iowa, Grove City and Girard, and the social committee will serve refreshments. Men of the church are cordially invited.

BPW Foster Child

Willy Lumpens, Belgian lad and foster child of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club for the past four years, will enter technical school this fall and the local service group, under the leadership of President Edna Thompson, has voted continuation of its financial support for another year. When Willy was first "adopted" by the club, Violet M. Peterson was designated to write him through the Foster Parents' Plan and to see that he received not only his monthly financial support but additional gifts for birthdays and holidays. Club members have watched with interest and delight the lad's gradual climb to good health and his increasing ability to write and use the English language. His letters have proved most interesting and have given the club a better insight into daily life in a foreign land.

Resident of East Hickory Hurt In Crash Is Critical

Joseph Dudick, well known East Hickory resident, remains in critical condition in the Bashline Hospital in Grove City as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident which claimed the life of his wife, Mary Alberta, on August 25.

She was born January 9, 1923, in East Hickory, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rudolph. She attended local schools there and at an early age became a member of East Hickory Methodist church. She was also a member of its Ladies Aid Society and of the Carleton Club. On November 11, 1942, at Warren, she became the wife of Joseph John Dudick.

Besides her husband and parents, she leaves the following brothers and sisters: John Rudolph, Bruno; and sisters: Marion Rudolph, North Warren; Marion Rudolph, East Hickory; Richard Rudolph, Knox; and Phyllis Rudolph, at home.

Services were held at 2.30 p. m. Monday, August 28, at the home of her parents, Rev. Elroy Sayers, Tionesta, officiating. They noticed that he left the Council chamber before speaking and speculated that he went outside to receive his instructions from Moscow on how to deal with the incident.

The Russian's extension of his reply into a long denunciation of American action in Korea delayed the Council's slow progress towards a vote on the American resolution. It is now expected today.

The delay in the vote led the American delegation to postpone plans to ask for a special council meeting to set up a commission to investigate Chinese Communist charges that American planes have bombed Manchurian territory.

Pitcher Ed Ford Is Indication Of What's on Way to Yanks

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK.—(NEA)—Casey Stengel wishes to bring to your attention the fact that the Yankees have won while being rebuilt. The New York Yankees have fared remarkably well this season when you consider the almost total loss of Henrich and the defection of Joe DiMaggio, Page, Mares and both third basemen, Brown and Johnson. The Yankee brass say 21-year-old Ed Ford indicates what's coming up from the farm. The chunky blond southpaw from the sidekicks of New York was recalled from Kansas City to win five in a row, including two shutouts and not an earned run in 33 rounds. Manager Stengel, Jim Turner and the scouts go into ecstasies discussing Mickey Mantle, a switch hitter playing shortstop for Joplin. Coach Turner calls Mantle the finest prospect he ever saw. The last time anyone looked, he was batting .393 leading the Class C Western Association in everything. Mantle is at the stage where the wise men are not sure where he belongs—in the infield or outfield.

JIM BRIDEWEISER, whose stickwork in spring training attracted so much attention, is batting .331 in the Class A Eastern League as the Binghamton shortstop. His second-basing partner, Art Mazmanian, is hitting .303, and they are phenomenal in the field. Checking the list of future Yankees you hear of Pitchers Zeké Meligano of Class AA, Dick Carr of A, Al Cicotte of B, Bob Weisler, Dick Crichton and Ivan Abramowitz of C and Fred Bessent, Tom Peeler and Jack Urban of D. While Hank Workman had to be benched when he went into a batting slump, he successfully made the move from the outfield to first at Kansas City, and was leading the American Association with 20 home runs and 71 runs batted in. Catcher Bob O'Neal and First Baseman Ren Bowen were only one home run apart at the top of the Class A Central League. Outfielder Art Schult and First Baseman Dale Long were even in the race for the Eastern League home run championship. Outfielders attracting attention are Casey Darrah, a power hitter, and Al Filbrick of B and Jim Engleman and Relfy Herzog of D. The Yanks are still coming.

The RANGE DOCTOR
by OSCAR J. FRIEND

Chapter 20
LOGAN stood beside the bed for a long time without moving. Then he sighed, closed the dead man's eyes and folded his arms.
"Doctor," he murmured bitterly. "Doctor! How little a doctor can really do."
He went to his room, found no trace of Griggsby's word from him. Down in the lobby he left notification of Nichols' death and sent word to the undertaker.
Matlock, he learned, was still abed. So was Overstreet. Getting one of his horses, he rode by Judge Steele's house where he found the family at breakfast. They invited him to join them, but he wasn't hungry.
"I just wanted to ask about Matlock, Judge," he said. "What has he done about the stage robbery?"
The judge snorted. "You know Matlock. He went out with Tom to the hold-up spot yesterday and came back with the shattered remains of the express box and told me the band had fled to the south."
"He didn't form a posse and go after them?"
"He hasn't gone anywhere. I suppose he figures the outlaws will ride north in the spring, and he can arrest them then."
Logan did not smile at this bit of irony. "Where's Uncle Tom?" he asked next.
The judge shook his head. "Haven't seen him since yesterday afternoon."
"Bob," Matlock asked anxiously, "how is Frank Nichols?"
"He died an hour ago," Logan said.
He didn't wait to see how they took this news. Leaving the house, he mounted his horse and rode out of town, instinctively heading north towards Jess Plum's place. He was filled with unrest. The Range Doctor was stirring in his grave. But where was Griggsby?
SUNDAY evening Griggsby had a talk with Jack Overstreet. "What do you make of this mess, Jack?"
Overstreet was sitting at ease on his divan, a tapering wine glass held on the point of his crossed knees. He stared moodily at the high lights in the amber liquid. Then his dark eyes flashed angrily.
"The shooting of the stage driver was a stupid act," he said. "I guess there's no doubt Holcomb was the man."
"Sure, but I meant whether or not John Naylor is mixed up in the business. Whether Frijole Flats is headquarters for this gang of bandits."
"Frijole Flats?" Overstreet was sharply surprised.
Griggsby told him about Nolly Sims and his sister's message. Overstreet nodded slowly.
"Your hunch might be right," he said. "Do you want to call the committee together and raid Frijole Flats?"
"No. We can't do that without more positive proof. It might be wrong. Here's what I think I'll do. I'm going to Frijole Flats myself and look around. I may have a showdown with Naylor."
"Very well," Overstreet agreed. "I'll go with you."
"Not this time, Jack," Griggsby declined. "You wouldn't be safe from Naylor, anyway. Besides, with Henry away and me out of town, somebody's got to be on hand to take active control of the committee if need be. That Steele can't handle things because of his heart. So you're elected."
Overstreet shrugged and took a sip of his wine. "When do you intend to go?"
"First thing tomorrow. I reckon I'll be back before night, but you'll be here to take charge of things if I'm not. Don't tell anybody where I've gone, particularly Bob. I don't want him running into the mess."
"I don't like this," Overstreet objected frankly. "I think—"
He broke off as there sounded a discreet knock at the door.
"Yes?" he called.
The huge Cajun entered the chamber on noiseless feet. He bore a tray containing Overstreet's late supper which he placed on a small table near the divan.
"Good evening, Mr. Griggsby," he said pleasantly. "I didn't know you were here. May I prepare a salad and some sandwiches for you?"
"No, thanks, Pierre," the editor declined. "I'm leaving right away."

Strong Support Is Voted A. & P. Store By Poultry Raisers

State College — Strong support for A&P food stores in the current controversy involving anti-trust efforts to break up the chain has been voted by the Pennsylvania State Poultry Federation. Noting that Pennsylvania leads the 48 states in poultry income with $200,000,000 annually, the powerful Federation group paid tribute to "fair and honest member-dealings with A&P."

Concerned over the possibility of losing A&P as a "valuable market outlet" as well as a backer of poultry research and development, the Federation adopted a resolution opposing the anti-trust lawsuit against the company. It also condemned "any government action" that would impair distribution efficiency, restrict market outlets or prevent any enterprise from growing into big business.

The outstanding success of Pennsylvania poultrymen is due in no small part, the resolution pointed out, to "its excellent markets and trade outlets." To lose the services of A&P would remove a substantial asset in the sale of poultry products, members of the Federation agreed.

The resolution was sent to the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

Penn State Plans 10,000 Enrollment

State College—In anticipation of an enrollment of more than 10,000 students, the Pennsylvania State College will begin classes for the Fall semester Monday morning, September 18.

Registration will be held Thursday and Friday, September 14 and 15, and freshmen will report for a week of orientation on Sunday, September 10. These will be the first fresh on campus since 1944.

Dr. C. O. Williams, acting dean of admissions, said a limited number of additional applicants would be admitted to the freshman class this week to fill vacancies created by last-minute cancellations.

The indications are that approximately half of the expected 3000 freshmen will enroll on campus. The others will attend classes at eight Penn State centers, the Mont Alto branch of the Pennsylvania State Forest School, or at 12 State Teachers Colleges.

Give Watermelons Room to Grow and Feed Them Well

Watermelons are among the most nutritious fruits, high in calories, and rich in minerals and vitamins. Though they seem to be chiefly delicious juice, actually they have a lower water content than asparagus, celery, cucumbers and lettuce, and of all the vine crops, stand drouth the best.

Watermelons are usually grown in hills, which may be as close together as three feet each way, in small gardens. Such close spacing is likely to reduce the size of the fruits, and more room should be given where possible. Seeds should be sown in warm soil, and if the nights continue cold it may be desirable to protect the young plants at first with waxed paper tents.

Heavy fertilizing pays well with this crop. As much as a pint of balanced plant food may be mixed with the soil beneath each hill several days before the seed is planted. Or use a shovel of well rotted manure, and half a pint of plant food. Sow ten seeds to the hill and thin out to the two strongest plants that develop.

Do not harvest watermelons until they are ripe, as they improve in flavor very little after they are picked. It takes some study to determine when a melon is ripe, without "plugging" it. Thumping is one test; ripe melons giving a dead flat sound, green ones a ringing sound. The color of the spot where the melon lay on the ground usually changes from greenish white to yellow as it ripens.

The same insects and diseases that attack muskmelons and cucumbers may attack the watermelon. If your garden has grown watermelons at any time during the last five years, a wilt resistant variety should be used.
